AN EGYPTIAN VILLAGE.

A village consists of a number of cubes, parallelopipeds and other rectangular shapes that answer for habitations. This geometrical architecture is fellowed, I suppose, in memory of Euclid, who was a native of Egypt.

These rectilineul houses are built mostly of mud or mud bricks, and have a doorway and several other small openings in the side walls. I observed some of them were constructed of palm branches interwoven and plastered also with mud. At any rate, one these villages looks more like a geological formation than a human one. One of them in particular that I passed some fifty miles from Alexandria, looks like a landscape from the terrace epoch.

Most of these communities are situated beside a pool of stagnated water. This site, I suppose, is especially chosen as it affords easy means of getting water for culinary purposes. As the rate of speed on the Alexandria and Cairo railway is rather slow, I many times caught a glimpse of a maiden standing on the banks of one of these miasmatic pools doing a little washing. They used for the purpose large shallow stone bowls. In some instances the water is led about the place in a ditch; in others I saw girls carrying water to the village in large stoneware vessls, generally upon their heads. The sunny part of the town is patronized during the winter season by the male portion of the inhabitants, who do a tall amount of sleeping.

Life is, however, better displayed upon the roof. This is the general campingground for both animals and inanimate objects. There are innumerable siestas, commencing at sunrise and prolonged till sunset. The matron hangs her clothes here, attaching one end of the line to the chimney and the other end to one of the male sleepers. The dogs retire here after eating till they are stapid from a carcass that lies near the house. The cat and dog are here on good terms, which was probably not the case an hour before in the space about the carcass. The chickens and goats occupy that part of the roof not occupied by the sleepers.

One thing I never remember to have seen on the roof, and that is the Arab's patient little donkey.

The canine portion of these communities may be divided into those that are white and those that are blick. If the white dogs | was copied by the silk being stitched toare in the minority at any particular gether in places. In the centre, where time, they are very promiscuously chewed | the name of the manufacturer usually is by the blacks, and vice versa. A canine

HOW TO BREAK KICKING COWS. Place the cow in a stanchion, or in the absence of stanchions, tie the cow to a manger pretty short. Then take a strap seven' or eight feet long, with a ring in one end; pass it under her body forward of the bag, with the ring end on her right side; pass the other end of the strap over the back and through the ring; slide it along the back to the rump over the tail. Keep it forward of the bag, draw tight, and stand on her left side; fet the milker commence, If she kicks, jerk her down on her left side, and hold her down a few minutes. Then let her up and try again. She can raise her foot three or four inches, but if she lifts her foot high enough to kick she can be laid down with ease. I never had a chance to lay a cow down the third time, and I have purchased and broken some very bad kicking cows. They always give it up. I break one or more heifers every year, and generally use the strip on them once or twice. Sometimes cows will have sore teats an fly time, and will stamp and refuse to be milked. Then the strap may be used with success. I keep a common halter strap in a certain place in the cow stable, and whenover a cow manifests a disposition to kick, the milker calls in an assistant, and the strap is put on and drawn tight, and the trouble is ended. The cows soon fearn what the strap is for, and will stand still if it is tied on. I never knew a cow to be in-

ABSENCE OF MIND IN DETROIT. Yesterday forenoon a citizen who was flurried and angry entered a grocery store on Antoine street and called out to the

"Why do you keep a dog around here to eat falks up?" "Didt my dog eat you oop?" was the innocent query in reply.

" Net quite; but he tore my coat half of my back, and you've got to pay for it." " How much?"

"Well, it will cost as much as $2 to get it repaired. You'll either pay it or I'll have "Oh, I'll pay dot," said the grocer, and he did, but the man was hardly out of sight before he jumped a foot high and called out; "Dunder and blitzen, but I vhas der greatest shackass in America! Why, 1 sells dot dog to my fader-in-law more as six

OWNED TO HIS RECORD.

The editor was sitting in his revolving cane-bottomed chair when Tornado Tom, the traveling terror of Texas, came in and demanded retraction of the statement that he had swindled an orphan out of four dol-

"It's a lie clear through," said the Terror, striking the table with his fist. "I'm as good a man as smells the atmosphere in this section."

"Perhaps you are better," said the editor, meekly.

"My record'll compare favorably with yourn," said the Terror, with a sneer; "perhaps there are a few little back rackets in your life, sir, that would not bear a microscopic investigation."

"Oh, sir," said the editor, visibly agitated, "don't recall the past; don't bring up the memories of the tomb; I know I've led a hard life-I don't deny it. I killed Shorty Barnes, the Bowery boy of New York-hacked him all to pieces with a knife. I have aloned for it a thousand times. I blew a man's head off at a log-roll in Kentucky, and bitterly have I repented of my folly. I slew a lot of inoffensive citizens of Omaha over a paltry four-dollar pot, simply because I got excited. Cu, could I but sheat the tomb of the men I have placed in its maw I would be happy. But it was all owing to my high temper and lack of early training. I know that I have been wayward, wicked, and you have a right to come here and recall those unhappy memmories; but it's mean for all that. Nobody with a heart would trent a man like you have me. Don't leave, stranger; I'll tell you all. I sawed a man's head off with an old army saber just for-" The Texas Terror was down stairs and half way around the corner, while the editor, taking a fresh chew of rattlesnake twist, continued his peaceful avocations quietly as a law-abiding citizen. - Salt Lake Tri-

THE MAN MONKEY.

The gorillas are the terror of Africa In the gorilla country no lion will live. They are man-haters, and kill them for the love of it, leaving the body, never eating them. When they spy a negro, they come down from a tree, hit him on the head with a c.ub, which they wield with their hind claw, or carry him up into the tree, there to murder him. Their strength is so great that they will bend the barrel of a rifle. Only one live one was ever brought to England, and that soon died. Several have been shot, but they are tough customers, and the natives dread them more than any animal of the African forest. The gorilla makes a bed like a hammock, and swings in the trees. The gorilla is the sworn enemy of the elephant, because each derives its subsistence from the same source. When he sees an elephant pulling and wrenching down the branches of a favorite tree, the gorilla steals along the bough, strikes the sensitive proboscis of the elephant a violent blow with his club, and drives off the clumsy and startled giant, shrilly trumpeting his pain and rage through the jungles of the forest.

UNIQUE DINNER CARDS.

At a recent dianer-party in New York. some odd dinner cards were used. They were exact imitations of square sola-crackers, made of pale silk, filled with down and sachet powder. The edges were slightly colored, as a cracker is browned in the baking, and the print of the cutting-stamp was the name of the guest. As they lay upon the pure white linen by the plates they looked like such fresh, good soda crackers that it was a disappointment to find that they would not break and crumble into brit

A PAVORITE FISH.

A Russian correspondent says that sterlet is the favorite fish in St. Petersburg. Frozen sterlet is cheap, but fresh sterlet is very dear. The fish is caught in the Volga, and, if intended to be sent alive to St. Petersburg during winter, it makes the journey in water artificially warmed. When the guests bidden to the feast arrive, the sterlet is shown to them swimming in wette: then it is taken out, killed and cooked. So costly is it that it is estimated that a plate of steriet soup is worth about

We can sell you the same coffee by the pound. Good coffee from 15 to 25 cents per pound. We would also call especial attention to our New Formosa Tea. This tea contains that rich, spicy flavor so much sought after by lovers of a really fine tea. We are selling it at the remarkably low price of frem 40 to 50 cents per pound. G. H. & J. H. BOSCH, Corner above Centre Market.

Everybody wants it, but very few get it, because most people do not know how to select coffee, or it is spoiled in the roasting or making. To obviate these difficulties has been our study. Thurber's package coffees are selected by an expert who understands the art of blending various flavors. They are roasted in the most perfect manner (it is impossible to reast well in small quantities), then put in pound packages (in the bean, not ground,) bearing our signature as a guarantee of genuineness, and each package contains the Thurber recipe for making good Coffee. We pack swo kinds, Thurber's "No. 34," strong and pungent; Thurber's "No. 41," mild and rich. One or the other will suit every taste. They have the three great points, price. Ask your Grocer for Thurber's roasted Coffee in pound packages, "No. 34" or "No. 41." Do not be put off with any other kind-your own palate will tell you what is best.

Where persons desire it, we also furnish the "Ideal" Coffee-pot, the simplest, best and cheapest coffee-pot in existence. Grocers who sell our Coffee keep them. Ask for descriptive circular.

Respectfully, &c., H. K. & F. B. THURBER & CO., Importers, Wholesale Grocers and Coffee Roasters, New York.

P. S .- As the largest dealers in food products in the word, we consider it our interest to manufacture only pure and wholesome goods and pack them in a tidy and s tisfactory manner. All goods bearing our name are guaranteed to be of superior quality, pure and wholesome, and dealers are authorized to refund the purchase price in any case where customers have cause for dissatisfaction.
